

Semester Abroad for Students of English: Non-Binding Learning Agreement

Updated 04.06.2018

It is strongly recommended that independent applicants to the UK, Ireland and Malta and those studying at partner universities in the US and Canada, Australia/New Zealand, India, South Africa and elsewhere complete a learning agreement in advance. It makes the credit transfer process more efficient and helps you avoid unpleasant surprises!

These courses have been discussed with a student advisor in the Department of English and American Studies. I am aware that this form is only intended to be a guide and that the course choices and credit transfer options listed here are not legally binding. I know that I will need to present a transcript and course outlines/syllabi/reading lists/other class materials to get course credit after my time abroad.
