Dear International Students,

Congratulations on your entrance to Inha University!

The International Center is here to assist you in making the transition to the university and to Korea. We realize that this transition, like any from one culture to another, will require significant thought and flexibility. We would like to do whatever we can to make your stay at Inha pleasant and profitable.

Study abroad presents various challenges, both academic and personal. You should be prepared to be flexible and to take some risks. You should also be willing to adapt to new situations and to expect differences in all things. The way courses will be taught, and consequently the way you study, will be different. Housing and living standards will also be different. You cannot assume or even expect the environment or living arrangements to be the same as they are at your home institution.

We have prepared this handbook in an effort to help you quickly adjust to life at Inha and in Korea, and make the best of your stay here. The university also has many services available to international students and we encourage you to take advantage of these. You will learn about these services in the international student orientation at the beginning of the semester. The orientation will acquaint you with various aspects of campus life as well as issues specific to international students such as visa, health insurance, credits and registration system.

Please do not hesitate to contact us if you have any questions.

We wish you a great experience at Inha!

Off Campus Housing

Staying in a private student accommodation offers room and board, and in some cases cleaning and laundry services. Prices vary depending on the sizes, facilities, and distance to the university. They range from approximately KRW 350,000 to KRW 700,000 per month (deposit excluded). For exchange students who stay in Korea for less than a year, the housing situation may be quite difficult because of the year-long nature of most apartment rental contracts. The International Center assists students in finding an off-campus housing near the campus, but it can NOT guarantee that all students can secure off-campus housing.

Health Insurance for International Students

Inha University has made it mandatory for all international students to obtain a health insurance plan, from their home country or Korea, which covers medical expense in Korea. All international students including exchange students are required to have one of the insurance plans below:

1. Inha University’s Designated Insurance Plan or
2. National Health Insurance or
3. Medical Insurance Plan available in Korea or
4. Medical Insurance Plan from a foreign country

- Students who have purchased another insurance policy other than Inha University’s designated insurance plan must submit a photocopy of his/her insurance certificate on the Visa orientation session in the 1st week of every semester.

Settling In

Adjusting to a New Culture

No matter how wonderful Koreans may (or may not!) be, or how excited you are during your first week in Korea, you will most likely feel that life in Korea is quite different from what you are used to. Korea is a homogenous society with a small but slowly rising number of residents from other countries and ethnic backgrounds. When you first arrive in Korea, you may notice many differences in the way people dress, behave and eat. Here is some etiquette you need to remember when you meet Koreans:

Formality

Koreans place a high value on formality. This is reflected in the different levels of speech used to address people of a different age or rank. Individuals of a higher rank or older age are treated with more reverence than individuals of a lower rank or younger age.

Meeting Koreans

When first meeting a Korean, s/he may ask you questions that you may find to be very personal such as your age, family background, and etc. This is not considered to be an invasion of privacy or an act of disrespect. The purpose of these questions is to establish your age and rank in order to determine how to address you with the correct level of formality. If you feel the questions are too personal, it is acceptable to kindly decline to answer.

Greetings

- Ordinary greetings: Greet close friends or companions by just saying hello and waving one’s hand while asking if they are doing well.
- Nodding: A slight nod to elders in general situations, but not proper for formal situations.
- Shaking Hands: Shake hands when greeting your colleagues, friends, or business partners whom you haven’t seen for a while. In Korea, you should not extend your hands before a senior does.
- Bowing: A greeting with the greatest respect to a senior. Koreans make a low bow usually traditional holidays and ceremonial occasions.
- Honorific Expressions: Usually honorific expressions are used to show respect for older people or bosses.

Drinking

Koreans enjoy having some drinks with family or friends. However, minors under 19 cannot purchase alcoholic beverages, and those who sell alcohol to minors will be penalized. The rules on drunk driving are very strict. When one is offered drinks by his elder, he holds the glass with two hands while the elder pouring the drink and drinks after turning his head aside a little as a way of expressing respect for the elder.

Tipping

Tipping is not required in Korea, when offered a very good service, you can offer tip.
Smoking
It is considered impolite to smoke in the presence of elders. Smoking is not permitted in almost all public places and buildings such as public institutions, theaters, libraries, and public transportation. There are areas designated for smoking in public places.

Tips. Useful Etiquettes to Know:
- Slightly nod when first met a Korean
- Yield a seat to elders in bus or subway
- Try to have a good harmony with others
- Receive things with two hands
- Take off shoes when entering inside

Climate and Weather
Korea maybe small in territory but its temperature difference between north and south is pronounced. The country has a continental monsoon climate with four distinctive seasons. Spring and autumn are rather short while summer and winter are long.

Four distinct seasons
The four distinct seasons can be found in Korea, each bringing its own characteristics, which in turn affect the nature and urban landscapes of Korea.

Spring (March to May)
Spring in Korea is the most pleasant, when temperatures are warm and comfortable. In spring, hiking and picnics can be enjoyed along with the flower blossoms and fresh air.

Summer (June to August)
Summer is very hot and muggy, particularly during the rainy season that typically lasts from the end of June to the beginning of July. The average temperature is 25 degrees and the temperature can rise up to 38 degrees when it is hot. In summer, Koreans enjoy their vacation time, opting to go camping and/or traveling to the coast, mountains, or rivers with family.

Fall (September to November)
Autumn in Korea is very beautiful. Blue skies and colorful foliage can be enjoyed from a number of picturesque spots. Thus, the ideal time to travel in Korea is during the autumn months. In the fall, Koreans traditionally celebrate it’s the rice harvest during ChuSeok, one of the nation’s biggest holidays.

Winter (December to February)
Winters in Korea are typically cold and dry. Snows can often be found at higher elevations, where winter enthusiasts can be found enjoying skiing, snowboarding, or participating in other winter activities. The winter climate follows a predictable cycle of three cold days followed by four less cold ones due to the rise of the high-pressure air masses. The average temperature is -5 degree Celsius and the lowest can be around -15 degrees.

City of Incheon

With over 2.8 million people, Incheon is one of the largest cities in Korea in terms of population. A gateway to northeast Asia with international airport and seaport in its hand, Incheon is located in Midwest Korean peninsula abutting the Yellow Sea.

Incheon is an intensely dynamic city bursting with rapid cultural and economic change, and it is now transforming into a global business hub centered around the high tech and futuristic New Songdo City, which is designated to become a center of diverse international business and trade.
Money Matters

Living standards are quite high in Seoul and Incheon metropolitan area. For a student, a monthly budget of about KRW 600,000 (approx. USD 550 or EUR 400 equivalent) is necessary. Students living outside campus may need much more than that (approx. KRW 800,000). Travel expenses and expenses related to accommodation constitute the largest sum of money.

- Monthly Expenses
  - Accommodation: approx. KRW 400,000/month
  - Living in the Univ. Dormitory is much cheaper. Dormitory accommodation costs approx. KRW 900,000 per semester and this includes breakfast and dinner.
  - Public Transportation (bus/metro): approx. KRW 80,000
  - Food: approx. KRW 150,000
  - University’s Designated Health Insurance (per year): approx. KRW 150,000~200,000
  - Cell Phone Bill: approx. KRW 35,000~55,000

Opening a Bank Account

The safest place for your money is in a bank; it is not wise at all to carry a large amount of cash around with you or to keep cash in your room. You can open an account in any bank in Korea. However, the ones you will have an easy access to are Hana Bank. There is a Hana Bank branch on the 2nd floor of the Student building and therefore, you can conveniently use its ATM machines scattered around on campus.

If you would like to open an account with Hana Bank, you will need to have the following documents:
- Original passport
- Alien Registration Card

* You can also open an account at Hana Bank when you apply for your student ID card. For more information about the bank account, contact the Hana Bank branch on campus.

Telephone Service

Mobile Phone

Mobile phones are widely and commonly used in Korea, and have various functions such as texting messages, taking pictures, and videos, and video calling. Major communication companies in Korea are SK Telecom (SKT), KT Show and LG Telecom. Detailed information can be found on each company’s website in English. To buy a mobile phone, foreigners need to submit a passport copy, alien registration card, and other required documents.
Communication companies have different fee structures depending on the lifestyles and needs of their clients. Payment can be made via wire transfer, credit card, autogiro, ATM, or online remittance.

Payphone

As the use of mobile phone has become widely used and the demand for pay phones has increased, there are fewer pay phones on the streets or in public places. Pay phones are operated by coins, phone cards, or credit cards and can be used to make local, long distance, or international calls.

The standard voltage in Korea is 220 volts. The outlet has two round holes and is the same type used in France, Germany, Austria, Greece, Turkey, and many other countries.

If you do not have a multi-voltage travel adapter, you can borrow one from your hotel’s front desk. If you want to buy one in Korea, you can do so at supermarket near the campus.
Public Transport

Seoul and Incheon metropolitan region is one of the most densely populated areas in the world with over ten million people. To relieve the congestion and heavy traffic, the cities operate a convenient public transportation system. Various bus routes cover all corners of the region but the most efficient method of getting around towns is by the Metro. Not only is it cheap, the average travel time between stations is 2-3 minutes. Buses are also a convenient way to get around the cities once you get accustomed to the seemingly complex routes. However, these routes are not as complex as they appear upon careful inspection since maps and street signs are labeled in English.

Bus

01 City Bus

Three types of buses cover routes connecting every corner of the city: Ilban bus, Jwaseok bus, and Maeul bus. Bus routes can be the hardest to master for newcomers. However, once you get accustomed to taking the bus, it may be easier for you to reach destinations not easily accessible by subway. Buses travel in five to fifteen minute intervals but it may take longer in busier parts of the city. Schedules vary depending on the bus routes but most routes start at 4:30 a.m. with the last bus of the day making its round at 1 a.m. One of the advantages of traveling by bus is that you can actually enjoy the sights and sounds of various neighborhoods around the town. The drawback to taking the bus is with the jockeying for elbow-room or seating on a moving bus full of commuters.

Subway

You will find that the subway is the most efficient way to get around the city. With eleven lines connecting various parts of the region, you can easily travel to your desired destination without the use of buses or taxis. The subway operation hours are from 5:30 to approximately 24:00. The estimated travel time between subway stations are 2-3 minutes. The schedule can vary depending on the line so remember to make note of the schedule in advance.

Subway Payment

In Seoul and Gyeonggi-do, the basic fare is 1,150Won within 10km and 100won is added per 5km. Thus, subway fares start at 1,150Won and can cost up to 3,150 Won depending on your final destination. However, average travel within Seoul will cost between 1,150 to 1,750 Won. If using T-Money cards, you can save 100 Won on each trip. Several ticket purchasing options are available for the Seoul Metro. The most obvious is the ticket bought at the ticket window or at automated machines which dispenses tickets. These tickets include one-time tickets and prepaid tickets. When purchasing your ticket, it is important to clearly state your destination.

* The subway fare may be different depending on the cities.

Tips. T Money Card

Purchasing a pre-paid transportation card or T-Money card can be very convenient and less confusing. You can recharge these cards by simply giving the person behind the ticket window your card and the amount you wish to recharge. Those of you here for a longer stay may want to opt for the credit-based transportation cards. These cards include credit cards, debit cards or e-cards. The total fare amount is accumulated and at the end of the month, it is billed to you along with your other transactions. Note that your student ID card can also be a transportation card! Subway fares start at 1,050 Won and can cost up to 3,150 Won depending on your destination. However, an average travel within Seoul will cost between 1,150 to 1,750 Won. Not only are T-Money cards convenient, but you can save 100 Won on each trip. T-Money cards can be purchased at ticket windows or at your local convenience stores (Family Mart, Buy the Way, GS25, 7-eleven).

Taxis

Taxis in Korea are affordable, comfortable, and can be a convenient way to travel. There are three types of taxis in Seoul: white, silver, and black. White and silver taxis are Ilban or regular taxis and are identified by white and blue plastic caps on top of the car. White caps indicate privately owned taxis while blue caps are company owned cars. Black taxis are Mobeom or luxury taxis and cost more. The basic fare for regular taxis (except Mobeom taxi) is 2,400 Won and metered according to time and distance. Keep in mind that there is a 20% fare hike from midnight to 4 a.m.
Visa Information

Student Visa

When applying for the visa, students are required to submit a “Certificate of Admission” which will be officially issued by Inha University. Please consult with your local Korean Embassy regarding other supporting documents for your visa application.
