V. Homestay

What is a Homestay?	Homestay is a service provided by our office that consists in living with a Host Family during your stay in Chile. This service helps the student to have a full immersion experience. Our office assists students on this matter through the Host Family Coordinator, Sergio García (sergio.garcia@pucv.cl).

Requesting the service	In order to be placed with a Host Family, all students must fulfill the “Homestay Form” which is part of the “Application Form” and return it with all required information completed. Please, contact your advisor for more information about fees.
------------------------	--

What is included in the service?	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Single room • Bed linen • Basic furniture • Kitchen access • Shared bathroom • At least 3 meals a day (provided by the family)* • Internet access • Laundry service *Students need to indicate in the Application Form if they have any food restriction. Special needs will be assessed by our office, and students will be contacted about the service availability as there is a small number of Host Families to meet special requirements.
----------------------------------	---

VI. Other housing options

What housing options do I have?	Those students who wish to live on their own can do so according to their budget. Our office will provide a list of B&B, hostels, hotels and small residencies, that offer a good, affordable and safe service. If you wish to have this information, please contact Sergio García at sergio.garcia@pucv.cl
---------------------------------	--

VII. Internships

Are there internship opportunities at PUCV?	In general our office does not provide internship opportunities.
---	---

I have been in touch with a professor who offered an internship position. Is it possible to become an intern in this context?	Yes. PUCV only accepts students that have already been accepted and sponsored by the appropriate Academic Unit, and provided that there is an institutional agreement between both institutions.

Can I look for an internship on my own?	Yes. International students can look for an internship independently. However, you should consider the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - PUCV will not manage the internship, or establish contact with the institution, company or organization where the internship will take place. - PUCV will not be responsible for accidents, nor for any situation arising out of the internship. - PUCV will not register or certify the internship.

VIII. Migration and administrative formalities

Do I need a Student Visa to study at PUCV?	All students participating in a PUCV SEMESTER or ANNUAL PROGRAM must request a Student Visa in the closest Chilean embassy or consulate. According to the Immigration and Migration Department (of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs) and considering the "Immigration Regulation" (Decree #597, from June 14th, 1984), Educational Institutions receiving international students must require from them to have a Student Visa when admitted as a student.

How do I obtain a Student Visa?	Once you are accepted by PUCV, you will receive an Official Acceptance Certificate. With that document, you can start your visa request paperwork. To know more about all the required documents for obtaining your Student Visa, we suggest you to go to the closest Chilean consulate, you can check locations here: http://chileabroad.gov.cl/consulados/
---	--

Do I have to do anything else once in Chile?	Once in Chile, all the students must register their visa at the Chilean "Policía de Investigaciones" (PDI) in Valparaíso or Viña del Mar, according to their address. You should consider that it shouldn't take more than 30 days. Also, when you arrive to PUCV, and during the Orientation Week, you must participate in the "Migration and Administrative Formalities" workshops, where we will explain how to have your Visa registered. Also, you will have to request for your Chilean Identity Number.

Annex I: PUCV Undergraduate regular courses

Check PUCV undergraduate offer:

<http://pucv.cl/pucv/site/edic/base/port/pregrado.html>

Types of PUCV courses

There are 3 types of courses:

- ✓ General: These courses are offered at the sundry PUCV schools and institutes, and are open to all University students, are taught once per week and are worth 2 teaching hours and 2 credits.
- ✓ Required: These classes are unique to each school and institute, so are exclusive to their corresponding majors. As a result and without exception, students from those majors must take these classes in order to graduate. In addition, required courses can worth up to 4 credits and are taught more than once per week.
- ✓ Elective: Similar to required courses, these are also unique to each school and institute and are also exclusive to their corresponding majors. The difference is that students must choose the elective to complete their coursework. These courses are worth up to 4 credits. Not all electives are required.

IMPORTANT

- ✓ The academic offer attached is yet to be confirmed.
- ✓ Not all lectures are offered in every semester.
- ✓ One month before the semester begins, the confirmed academic offer will be submitted to accepted students. It is recommended that the student chooses a good number of courses to enroll in order to have a higher quantity of lectures to be enrolled in considering possible conflicting schedules.
- ✓ Consider that an Academic Unit may have more than one undergraduate program.
- ✓ If you need further information about a course (program, schedule, contents, or others) send us an e-mail: ivania.yanez@pucv.cl

Credits

Courses with 2 credits: It means that a student spends 6 academic hours per course per week. Generally these six hours consist of 2 hours of classes and the student is expected to dedicate 4 hours to independent study, research, homework, etc.

Courses with 3 credits: It means that a student spends 9 academic hours per course per week. Usually these consist of nine hours, 4 hours of classes, and the student is expected to dedicate 5 hours to independent study, research, homework, etc.

Courses with 4 credits: It means that a student spends 12 academic hours per course per week. Usually these consist of 12 hours, 4 to 6 hours of classes per week, and the student is expected to dedicate the remaining hours to independent study, research, homework, etc.
